About Trumpington Meadows

Trumpington Meadows is a 58-hectare nature reserve in South Cambridge, alongside the River Cam. The site is a mix of meadows, hedgerows, riverside and woodland, and is managed by the Wildlife Trust for the benefit of wildlife and people.

Many of the paths at Trumpington Meadows are gravel or concrete, and are suitable for pedestrians, bikes, wheelchair users and buggies. There is also a permissive bridleway route through the reserve. See the map for more details.

The reserve is located on Grantchester Road, near Junction 11 of the M11. The Trumpington Park + Ride and Guided Busway are located next to the reserve and there is limited parking at Byron's Pool. There are ample cycle racks on site.

Dogs at Trumpington Meadows

The reserve is a great place to visit with your four-legged friends, and we welcome dogs and their owners. Please respect other users, the reserve and the wildlife that lives here. There are many ways you can help.

- Always pick up after your dog – you will find dog bins around the reserve.
- Make sure your dog is under your control at all times, and will come back to you if you call. Not all dogs, humans or horses want to be approached, so please be mindful of other visitors!
- Keep your dog on a lead in certain areas that are sensitive to disturbance (see local signs).

Volunteer with us!

Are you interested in volunteering for the Wildlife Trust at Trumpington Meadows?

We have a conservation work party that meets every other Wednesday throughout the year. Come and join us to help manage this reserve for wildlife. Tasks are varied and include scrub removal, hay raking, hedge laying and more. No experience necessary – training, equipment and tea provided. Please contact the rangers on
