Kislingbury to Cogenhoe

17kms/10.5miles

From Kislingbury High Street, you will see one of the finest ironstone rectories built in 1710, now a private residence. Oliver Cromwell is said to have tethered his horses in Kislingbury churchyard. Leaving the village towards Northampton you will pass Upton where there is a lot of development. At Duston Mill reservoir it is easy to navigate by the Express Lift Tower, which was built in 1982.

The Nene Way takes you past the impressive Carlsberg brewery along the Northampton Arm of the Grand Union Canal. Whilst in Northampton, why not explore the town by visiting the market square, where the Northampton farmers' market is held every third Thursday morning of the month and offers a mouth watering choice of local produce from free range eggs to jams and chutneys. The standard market is Tuesday to Saturday. The Art Gallery and Central Museum are also located in the centre of town, where you can discover the history of shoe making and see the finest collections of footwear in the world.

As you leave Northampton, you will walk through Becket's Park, which is the venue for many local events including the annual Northampton fireworks display and then Barnes Meadow before reaching The Britannia. This delightful pub is situated on the banks of the River Nene and boasts an excellent menu of unique and traditional pub meals giving sustenance to continue the Nene Way path.

The Nene way is the most popular off road route through Northampton connecting the town centre and train station to Midsummer Meadow Nature Reserve, Brackmills Industrial Estate and Upton. Many cyclists use the route for commuting to work as it shares Sustrans National Cycle Network route 6. www.sustrans.org.uk

The Washlands Flood Storage Scheme has become nationally important for migrating birds, e.g. lapwing and golden plover and the entire Nene Valley is used as a feeding station since gravel extraction. Across the river, you will see an unnatural looking hill, Clifford Hill is a 14m high circular defensive mound from around the 11-12th century. A bowling green was constructed on top, visited by the county's celebrated poet John Clare (1793-1864).

Out of Northampton you will pass by Billing Aquadrome a must see family attraction and former gravel extraction site. Set in 235 acres of land, this venue is ideal for trying your hand at water sport activities including jet skiing, fishing and enjoying the pleasure park. Finally ending this section at the Royal Oak in Cogenhoe, a traditional country pub offering fine ales and home-cooked food by an open fire.

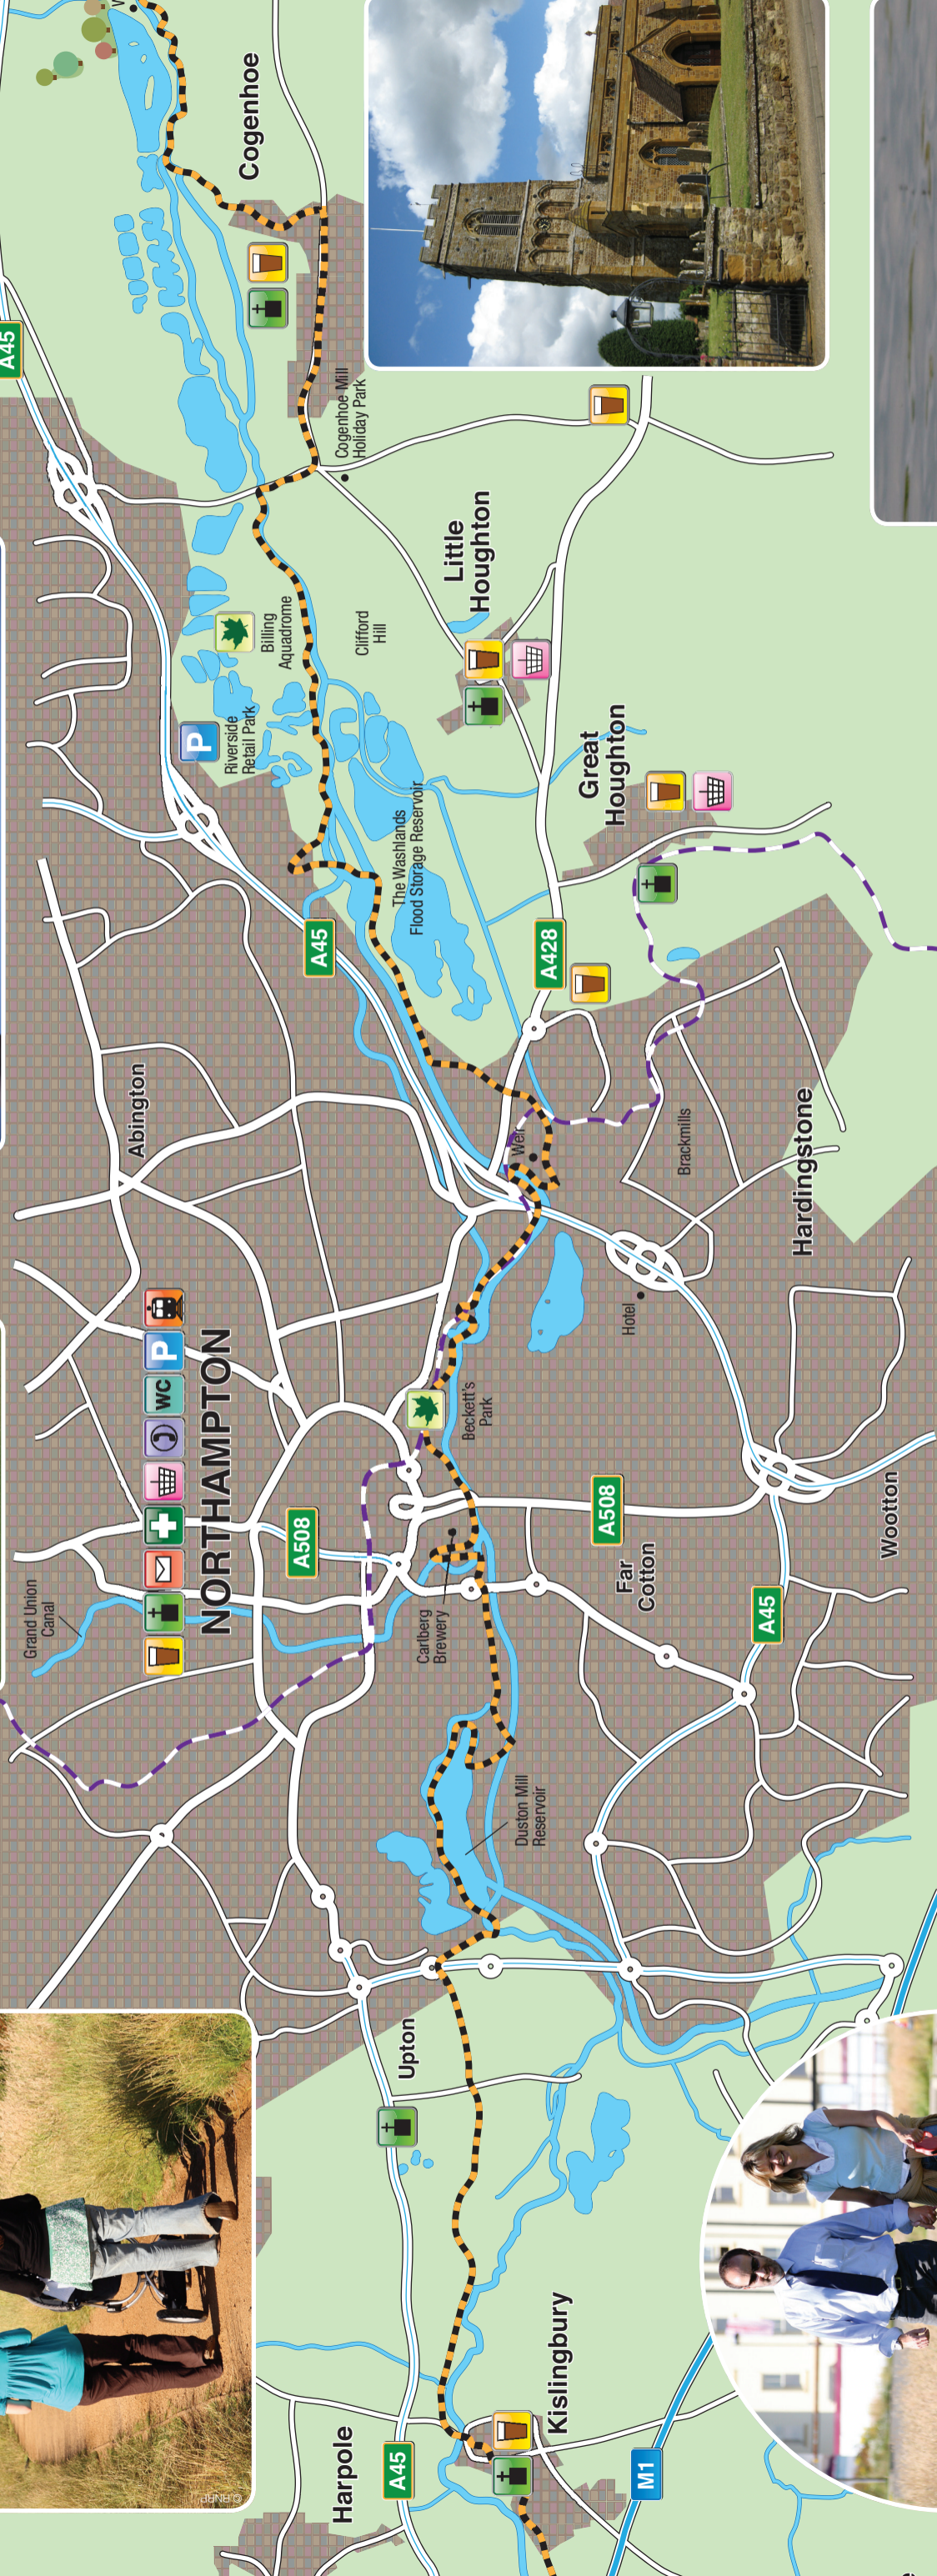

The river's name has been spelt and pronounced in the past; Nen, Ninne, Nynne, Nien and even now it's the source of many arguments. Through most of the County it's pronounced 'Nen', but downstream of Thrapston and beyond to the Wash, the locals say 'Neen'.
