Whilst every attempt has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information supplied, both in the text description and on the map, use of the relevant Ordnance Survey maps is strongly recommended. The level of detail on OS maps is far higher than we could ever hope to depict here. The relevant maps for the most detail concerning rights of way are the pathfinder series (green covers) nos. 1072, 1047, 1048, 1024, 1025, 1001 and 1002. However, the Landranger series (red covers) nos. 153 and 166 would be an adequate alternative and easier on the pocket too. It is hoped that eventually the whole route will be waymarked with special Bunyan Trail waymark-discs. Look out for these.

Route through Ampthill

Emerge from Football Field onto Abbey Lane and follow round into Willow Way. Take the LH part of Willow Way. Proceed up into Duke Street. Turn right into Cornwall Road, turn left at the end. Cross the road and go on to a footpath on your right, Kings Arms Path, this takes you to Ampthill Market Square. Turn right up Church Street, passing the church and turn left up Gas House Lane.
